RAISING MONEY FOR A FACTORY

Flying Squadrons Are Busy Working
For Funds to Bring Kitchen Cabinet Company.

ARE MEETING WITH SUCCESS

People Liberal and Indications Are That Amount Will be Raised in Short Time.

In all probability Rushville will have a new factory in a very short time. Flying squadrons are at work today and although they started to work late this morning there is every indication that the $4000 needed to bring a good kitchen cabinet factory here will be raised in a short time. The men first approached on the proposition were enthusiastic in their approval of the movement and gave liberally and all that remains now is for those who have not been seen to give just as liberally.

The factory which will come here is one of the most promising kitchen cabinet factories in the Middle West. The article manufactured is well recommended, and those who have inspected the cabinet say that they are highly pleased with it.

The terms on which the factory will come are satisfactory to those who have heard of the proposition. The company will work about twenty-five men to start with, but there is every indication that the industry will grow and grow fast. The reason for its moving is that it has outgrown its present quarters and there is no chance to enlarge the plant. If Rushville citizens will give the site the company will come here at once, and erect new buildings.

The site desired is the old Warfield & Wilson ground. The Young Men's Commercial club has an option on this for $4000. All that will have to be raised is this amount. The company will then erect a two-story building 50 by 160 in addition to the brick building already on the ground. A boiler room and a dry kiln will be built also. After the company has paid out $40,000 in wages it is to receive a deed to the property, and then if the factory is destroyed by fire, the company is to rebuild or pay the Commercial club $4000.

This contract appeals to the business men as being a good one and Rushville men are coming to the front nobly with their subscriptions. Although the Young Men's Commercial club got in touch with the factory and did much toward closing the contract, the older business men have investigated the plant and are helping to land the factory.

The proprietors of the factory are highly respected men in their community, and have the reputation of being good sound business men who have made a success.

RELATIVE CRITICALLY ILL

Douglas Morris Called to Knightstown This Morning.

Douglas Morris was called to Knightstown this morning on account of the serious illness of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Josiah Morris. She has been critically ill for several weeks and not much hope has been entertained for her recovery. This morning word was sent to Mr. Morris that she was not expected to live very long. She is the widow of Douglas Morris' brother, Josiah, who died recently.

Rushville Will!

NEW INSPECTOR IS NAMED

Ned Abercrombie in Place of S. C. Conner in Precinct 6.

City council met in special session last night to name a new inspector in precinct 6 in the Third ward.

S. C. Conner had been selected but it was found that the law requires that an inspector be a resident of the precinct a year before he serves. Ned Abercrombie was selected to serve in this precinct.

PROGRAM OFF WITHOUT A HITCH

Visiting Doctors Pronounced Local Physicians the Kings of Entertainers.

DINNER AT WINDSOR HOTEL

Every City in Territory of Union District Medical Society Was Represented.

The visiting physicians here today pronounced the local doctors kings of entertainers. They not only enjoyed the elaborate dinner at the new Windsor hotel, which was the first meal served there, but also the excellent program which was rendered in the court house assembly room. The program was carried out without a hitch. There was a good attendance of medicine men from all portions of the district represented in the Union District Medical Society. The best represented city as far as numbers were concerned was Hamilton, Ohio. Connersville only sent one representative which was the smallest number from any one city in the district.

The papers on the program were all interesting and also proved to be very instructive. The lecture on "Cystitis," by Dr. E. O. Smith of Cincinnati, Ohio, was especially interesting as the doctor is a former Rush county boy and is well known here. Dr. C. H. Parsons was the only local doctor on the program and he opened the discussion on the paper read by Dr. Smith.

The program was opened this morning shortly after ten o'clock by an address by the president, Dr. F. T. DuBois of Liberty, Ind. Two numbers were run off before dinner and the remainder finished by 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

WINDSOR ENJOYS FIRST BIG DAY

Crowd Filled Dining Room in the New Establishment Today at Noon.

DOCTORS WERE ENTERTAINED

The proprietors of the Windsor hotel, W. E. Wallace & Son, enjoyed a prosperous day for the opening of their establishment. Although dinner today was the first meal which they served, they have been keeping boarders for several days. The dining room was crowded during the noon hour. Much of the extra was occasioned by the meeting of the Union Medical Society here today. The visitors were entertained at dinner by the local physicians. The newspaper men of the city were entertained at dinner by the proprietors.

What Republicans Have Done for City

Facts and Figures Which Show Good Work of the Present Administration

The Republican party in this city is asking for four more years of power, and, as a basis for its claims, points to its last four years of successful administration, four years of pledges redeemed and promises fulfilled.

The best way to tell what a party will do is to see what that party has done, and, as a justification for its plea for further power, the Republican party gladly points to its past as a guaranty of its future.

What has it done? Let the facts make reply.

Our Democratic friends are claiming that when Mayor Cowing succeeded Mayor Hall, there was in the treasury the sum of $42,000.00. What is the truth?

On September 1, 1906, Mayor Hall's last day, there was in the treasury, as is shown by the treasurer's books, the sum of $15,903.93, being the TOTAL BALANCE of all the funds on hands. Of this sum, $1,237.68 belonged to the Street Improvement Fund and was not available for any other purpose, so that Mayor Cowing's administration really had, as available assets for administrative purposes the sum of $14,666.25.

But this does not tell all the story, for Mayor Hall's administration had entered into the following contracts which had to be executed and carried to completion:

1. New bridges at West Eighth street, North Arthur street and Main street.....	$2,890.00
2. Street and alley intersections on West Eighth, paid out of city funds on Herkless Bros. contract for curb, gutter and roadway.....	1,200.00
3. Street and alley intersection on Arthur street, paid out of city funds on Herkless Bros. contract for curb, gutter and roadway.....	1,500.00
4. Repairing the brick stack at plant, contract of Morris Winship.....	765.00
5. Fifty cars of crushed stone at $20 per car.....	1,000.00
6. Oliver street improvement, city's part.....	380.37
7. West Tenth street improvement, city's part.....	573.84
8. West Sixth street improvement, city's part.....	167.49
Or a total of.....	$8,476.70

Adding to this the unfulfilled contracts as above and we have the final total of $11,251.70, as the sum absolutely required to complete the contracts made by the Hall administration and the business it left unfinished that necessarily had to be finished. Deducting this from the $14,666.25 actually in the treasury and it will be seen that Hall left to Cowing the sum of $3,414.55 actually available for use by the Cowing administration.

The first work of the Cowing administration, therefore, was to carry out the contracts and finish the business of the Hall administration, and this was done in an effective and business-like way.

This done, the council set to work to repair the water and light plant of this city. Few people in Rushville really know the deplorable condition of this establishment four years ago. In such a dilapidated condition were all of its parts that those most familiar with it always referred to it as "The Junk Shop."

The electric equipment was wholly inadequate to supply the needs of the city, and what there was of it was antiquated and out of repairs. The machinery was old, the boilers worn, the reservoir leaking; the electric wires over the city came into such frequent contact with trees that fully one-half the current was grounded; the poles were rotting at the ground; the cross-arms were one-third gone; and the service was as poor as this or any other city ever had.

The present council set to work to remedy this deplorable condition, and such has been their success that there is not a citizen of Rushville today who is not proud of this plant.

And how was it done? By courageously meeting the situation and in an economical and sensible way, spending the money that had to be spent to do the work required. Here it is item for item:

1. Fitting five wells, already drilled, but plugged, with air lifts at $125 per lift.....	$ 625.00
2. Connecting wells, ready for use, but not connected.....	1,150.00
3. Water extension in West Third street.....	1,000.00
Total.....	22,775.00

What is the result? One of the best plants in Indiana, with a capacity of 335 Kilo Watts and an abundance of reserve power.

This year they have added the day current; they have increased the number of street lights from 292 to 381; they have increased every 16 candle power light to a 32 candle power; they have increased the voltage from 110 to 220; they have added to the number of arc lights; they have everywhere increased the efficiency of the water and light service until it is operated practically without complaint on the part of the people, and they have done all this—and much more—while reducing the tax levy from $1.20 to $1.00 per hundred.

What else? Under contract with the gas company, fuel at this plant cost the city but $3.40 a year; but at the close of 1907 the gas company declined to further furnish gas to this establishment, and since that time coal has been used. This compelled the purchase of a piece of ground 80x100 next to the building at a cost of $300.00, and the construction of coal bins at a cost of $400.00, or $700.00 for a place to store a sufficient supply of coal to run this plant.

In addition to this, they have been

We, the undersigned candidates for Mayor and Councilmen on the Republican ticket do hereby make the following statement regarding the Gas Franchise in Our City.

It is not now and never has been an issue with us as a party. We hereby pledge ourselves not to tamper with the present Franchise in force between the Gas Companies and the City and are opposed to any increase in the cost of gas. And we hereby pledge ourselves to maintain the existing rates.

HAS BADLY MASHED FOOT

George Young Victim of Painful Accident in the West.

George Young is suffering from a badly mashed foot. While on his western trip he was sitting in a berth with his feet out in the aisle. As the conductor came through the car, the train suddenly lurched and the conductor stepped on Mr. Young's foot. He was taken to a hospital in Denver and was forced to spend some time there. He is now able to limp about the city with the aid of a cane, but the foot is causing him much pain.

THIEVES ABROAD IN THE DAYLIGHT

Mrs. Ad. Spivey Has Been Missing
Money Placed in Milk Bottle
For Tickets.

SUM WAS SMALL EACH TIME

Thieves are abroad in the daylight in the vicinity of North Harrison street. Mrs. Ad Spivey has missed the money which she placed in the milk bottle to pay for tickets several times. The sum was only twenty-five cents each time, but several times would soon make several dollars.

She noticed the other day shortly after placing her bottle on the front porch that it was in a different position. Examination showed that the money had been taken in a very few minutes. She is thinking of using the checking system to unravel the mystery.

WILL RETURN HIS DECISION FRIDAY

Judge Sparks Heard Argument in the Mays School Injunction Suit
This Morning.

RESTRAINING ORDER IS ASKED

Judge Will Sparks was here this morning and heard the argument in the Mays school case as to whether the temporary restraining order should remain in force until next term of court when the case proper which is an injunction suit against Chester Rhodes, trustee of Center township, will be tried. The plaintiff avers that the action taken to build the new school house in Center township was illegal on the grounds that a member of the advisory board was of unsound mind. Judge Sparks will return his decision tomorrow.

HURT BEFORE STARTING.

Dr. Finch was a passenger to Rushville Wednesday morning, says the Greensburg News. The doctor while getting out of a buggy before starting, was badly bruised about the back and shoulders when the horse frightened, started, catching him between the wheels. Fortunately the injury was not serious.

On its through trains one of the eastern railroads has installed a sanitary system of supplying water to passengers. In every car a slot machine is installed, which supplies paraffin drinking cups for 1 cent apiece. The passenger uses this paraffin vessel and throws it away after use.

SAY THEIR SON IS NOT GUILTY

Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Crosby Place
Blame For Robbery on Another Railway Employee.

YOUNG MAN IS NOW IN TEXAS

Has a Good Position With Telephone Company There—Has Not Been Back.

A new feature of the mix-up with which Ned Crosby of Milroy was supposed to have been connected has developed. Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Crosby of Milroy deny that their son had anything to do with the robbery of the station at Conrad, Iowa, recently. They tell an altogether different story from that told by the detective who was here last Saturday.

They say their son is in Ft. Worth, Texas, and that he has a good position with a telephone company there. The detective last Saturday said Crosby's whereabouts were unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby say that another employee of the station made away with the valuables which amounted to about $400. As far as they know this employee has not been arrested, and they say they do not know whether he has been discharged.

The blame it seems according to the story from Milroy was unjustly placed on young Crosby. He has always borne a good reputation in this county and the news of his innocence will be pleasing to his many friends.

The detective who was in this city last Saturday and gave out the information said he was sure young Crosby had been back in this county. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby say their son has not been in Rush county since he went west.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL FROM TREE

Mrs. Ida Sprangler, Guest at Home of John Campbell, is Severely Injured.

UNCONSCIOUS THREE HOURS

Mrs. Ida Sprangler of Indianapolis is suffering from severe injuries which she received yesterday at the home of John Campbell, southwest of this city, where she has been a guest. She climbed into an apple tree, and in some way lost her footing and fell to the ground. She was unconscious for three hours and for a time her condition was regarded as critical. Dr. R. L. Blount was called and found that there were no broken bones. Mrs. Sprangler is suffering considerably from the severe bruises she received.

An Up-to-Date Druggist

says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go on to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG,
SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. New York Lawyer Wants $40,000 for Bringing About Marriage.

New York, Oct. 28.—Judge McCall and a jury in the supreme court are trying the suit of Daniel W. Scanlon, a New York lawyer, against Mrs. Lydia A. Hodge of Chicago for $40,000 for services the lawyer claims he rendered, including the bringing about of a ceremonial marriage between Mrs. Hodge and her husband, Charles J. Hodge. The latter is a wealthy mining operator with an income, according to Scanlon, of $40,000 a year.

Scanlon testified that Mrs. Hodge was formerly Miss Thomas and lived in Detroit, Mich. Hodge met her there and fell in love with her. The attachment was reciprocated and the two became engaged. Hodge, according to Scanlon, told Miss Thomas, however, that his mother did not want him to marry and that as she was wealthy and he was her principal heir it would not be advisable for them to be wedded until after the mother's death.

Hodge urged Miss Thomas to go with him to Chicago, where the couple had several quarrels and separated. She consulted Scanlon, so the latter declares, and said she would be willing to pay $40,000 if a ceremonial marriage could be brought about between her and Hodge. The latter's mother had died in the meantime. Scanlon went to Hodge, he testified, and induced him to consent to a ceremonial marriage. The marriage ceremony was later performed, but Scanlon says he did not get the $40,000.

ENTHUSIASM IS QUIETING DOWN

Deep Waterways Not Much Discussed.

TALK CONSISTS OF POLITICS

President on His Way Down the Mississippi, but the Prime Object of the Cruise Seems to Have Been Lost—Boosters Made to Gasp at Mr. Taft's Views on Their Pet Project.

Helena, Ark., Oct. 28.—President Taft is haunted by the ghost of his Boston speech praising Aldrich. Uncle Joe Cannon's friends in congress now ask that Taft give the same sort of a public certificate to him. They have held a meeting on the steamboat Quincy of the President's Mississippi fleet and have decided to urge Taft to say something in Uncle Joe's favor before the deep waterway cruise ends.

The speaker's friends argue that he is as deserving as Senator Aldrich of the president's O. K. and that he stands in much greater need of it. They added that the speaker and the senator have stood for the same things and that if Taft indorses one he ought to be willing to extend a supporting hand to the other.

The great deep waterways excursion has developed into a political junket and an occasion for discussing interstate problems. Taft himself had the temerity to suggest that the deep waterway agitators pause and discover whether they really want the Mississippi deepened, whether the merchants themselves do not prefer rail to water transportation. It made the deep waterway boosters gasp, and they have come to the conclusion that the President isn't very enthusiastic over their pet project. Practically the only topic of conversation on the boat bearing the 177 congressmen has been Uncle Joe's future. The congressmen know they are on a waterways excursion and occasionally refer to the fact when they make landings, but sand bars and dredgings are the least of their worries while on shipboard.

Taft in his speech at Memphis punctured the idea that anybody is going to learn anything practical about the Mississippi by this cruise from St. Louis to New Orleans. "It is not likely," said Taft, "that any of us by viewing the snags on the Arkansas bank of the river or the ruins of attempted improvements is able to learn any great lesson as to the proper way of improving it, but by our mere aggregation, by our avoirdupois we impress on the people how necessary it is for congress and those in power to give their time entirely to the discussion of the question of how waterways can be improved for the benefit of the people."

The President intends to follow President Roosevelt's example in having the governors of all the states as his guests at the White House. He invited the twenty-five who are making the trip with him and has suggested some time in December.

The President will stop this evening at Vicksburg.

Perhaps the Martians Are All Dead.

London, Oct. 28.—The Journal of the British Astronomical Society, referring to the changes observed in Mars in September, says these phenomena are unparalleled in past records. The obliteration of the markings on the surface of the planet by a gloomy yellow veil indicates some catastrophe on a gigantic scale. It may be that the abnormal electrical effect of the sun, which, according to Sir Oliver Lodge, the noted scientist, caused the recent magnetic storm on the earth, had a far more terrible influence on Mars. They may have unloosed forces which, if Professor Lowell's theory concerning life on Mars is correct, may have ended forever the Martians' struggle for existence.

Says Anna Luther Only Victim.

Islip, L. I., Oct. 28.—Otto Mueller, alias Frederick Gebhardt, the cabinet maker, who confessed after he was arrested on Sunday that he killed Anna Luther, still persists that he disposed of no other woman as he did Anna Luther. He also denies that he married or knew Minnie Rosenau, who attended the inquest and identified Gebhardt as the Mueller who had married her in Russia fifteen years ago and deserted her after getting possession of a fair dowry.

To Die in the Chair.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 28.—For the murder of his wife at Larchmont September 4, Samuel D. Austin, a young negro, was sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison in the week beginning December 6. Despite the plea of insanity, which was argued on his behalf, Austin was convicted of murder in the first degree. He had been out only two weeks.

Will Senator McCarren.

New York, Oct. 28.—The will of the late Senator McCarren, made in St. Catherine's hospital while he was ill there, will probably be presented for probate Friday or Saturday. The estate will be much smaller than was supposed, perhaps not exceeding $50,000. The aged mother of the testator is probably the sole beneficiary.

The signed statement of the nominees for mayor and council that they pledge themselves not to tamper with the gas rate and to protect the consumer, knocks the bottom out of the hulloaloo raised by the Democrats about raising the price of gas.

On next Tuesday Rushville people will determine the kind of administration the city will have for the four years starting January 1, 1910. A square deal for all under the facts and the law involved, honestly in handling public funds and a capable and business-like administration are premises by the Republican candidates. A glance at the list of these candidates shows them men of affairs and capable of giving the services the city is demanding. From mayor down the list is a good one and worthy of receiving the responsibility placed upon it.

P. H. McCormack, who, with Phil Wilk, built our court house and who has a similar contract in Peru at present is Democratic candidate for mayor of his home town, Columbus. The Columbus Republican hands him one in this wise:

"Patrick H. McCormack, formerly of this city, but now of Peru, Ind., arrived here yesterday to attend the charities and correction conference. He was recognized by several people at the Hotel St. Denis, who remembered him when he lived here, and they assisted him in finding the registration committee so he could register and get a badge. Mr. McCormack absent-mindedly put Columbus on the card as his place of residence instead of Peru. Mr. McCormack still insists that he holds a voting residence in Columbus, and when he mentioned the subject it was remembered that he is a candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket here."

WHAT REPUBLICANS HAVE DONE FOR CITY

compelled to pay much more for coal than for gas, so that

1. New electric equipment, switchboards, transformers and arc lights, contract of 1907 .....$6,500.00
2. Engine, direct connected to generator ..... 3,750.00
3. Reconstructing outside lines, high poles and new cross-arms, including all material and labor for 1907 ..... 8,228.49
4. Continuance of rebuilding for 1908 ..... 3,500.00
5. Second electrical unit generator, contract 1909 ..... 3,750.00
6. Engine direct connected to generator ..... 3,300.00
7. Piping engines to boilers and additional repair work on various parts of plant ..... 1,000.00

Or a total expenditure on the water and light plant since Cowing became Mayor of .....$30,028.49

Thus showing an increase over gas for the three years of $4000.00.

In addition to all this, the following extensions to the water plant have been made, the object being to bring the water privileges of the city within the ready reach of all the people.

In 1907 the coal bill was .....$6,918.00
In 1908 ..... 6,590.00
In 1909 ..... 6,519.00

What more? A switch was laid at the plant costing $600, which is being repaid to the city by the railway company at the rate of $2.00 for each car running over the switch to the plant.

During the present four years quite a number of employees wages have been increased to correspond in some measure with the increased cost of living. This item alone has cost the city near $2000, and shows the progress of the plant and aids in obtaining proficient men for each of the positions thus advanced.

The cost of city team work has been advanced from $3.00 to $3.50 per diem. Eleven and one-fourth miles of sanitary sewers have been put in at the low cost of $56,000, without any litigation whatever and without serious damage to the streets of the city. $1500 of this amount was paid from city funds as its proportionate share.

The fire department has undergone some changes for the better and is to be commended for its efficient service. Two new fire alarm boxes have been installed at a cost of

Water mains, Spencer street ..$1,100.00
Water mains, Arthur street ... 1,200.00
Water mains, North Harrison street ..... 200.00
Water mains, North Main street 200.00
Water mains, West Fifth street ..... 400.00
Total .....$3,100.00

In addition to this amount of $1900.00 the city was unfortunate in the loss of a good fire horse which cost the city $200.

In the way of storm sewers, one from the locality of the I. & C. power house through the lower part of the city and under the race to the river was put in at a cost of about $700, also one storm sewer on South Jackson street costing $600, a total of $1300.

Many brick and alley crossings have been put in in all parts of the city. Sexton street, Ninth street, West Sixth street, East Seventh street, West First street and Fourth street have all been improved with crushed stone and gravel from the city funds; all street repairs costing in the neighborhood of $7000 annually.

The city has paid for a smallpox epidemic over $7000; and this year is deducted an income of $4250 saloon license which is no longer a source of revenue to the city.

On the bonded indebtedness of the city the present administration has paid out its funds in interest, $8872.37; in principal, $16,500.00, a total of $25,372.37 which reduces the entire bonded indebtedness of the city to $32,500.

The tax rate in effect at the close of Mayor Hall's term was $1.20 for the city. In making the levy the present council has reduced the same each year and the tax levy for the city for the year 1910 will be $1.00.

These figures cannot be disputed, and tell a tale of competency, efficiency and economy that cannot fail to reach the ear of every citizen of Rushville.

Increased expenses? Yes, but with it increased efficiency and as good service as Indiana knows. Added cost? Yes, but with it a greatly reduced city debt and a greatly reduced tax levy for city purposes. What else remains to be done? Manifestly to continue just this kind of administration, and that is precisely what Marsh Stevens and the other Republicans will do if intrusted with power.

The scores made were all good and up to the standard set by the previous shoots. The prizes in each of the events were furnished by the local merchants.

A new feature of the shoot was the prize being offered to the professional shooters who have never before been given a trophy in their event. Vietmeyer won the beautiful vase after shooting off a tie with Marshall who won the world's championship in 1900. They tied with 19 out of a possible twenty and in shooting off the tie Vietmeyer made a perfect score. The best amateur shooter was Tom Parry of Indianapolis, who made 188 out of 200. ## FINDING FAVORS FARMERS BANK

Dispute Over Levy by Board of Review is Settled by Supreme Court.

JUDGMENT IN LOCAL COURT

Is Also Upheld by the Decision in a Similar Case Before Higher Tribunal.

The Farmers bank in this city is interested in a decision handed down yesterday by the Indiana Supreme Court. In the last three years there has been a disagreement between the bank and the board of review on the amount that should be assessed against the bank. The board of review raised the assessment, and the bank appealed to the board of State tax commissioners. The tax commissioners sustained the action of the local board. The bank then paid the taxes, but filed suit to collect the alleged over charge. The circuit court found for the bank and rendered judgment of $378. The case has been resting until the decision was made by the supreme court in a similar case. The supreme court upholds the contention of the bank and the finding of the local court.

The decision of the supreme court follows:

21317. Board of Commissioners vs. Johnson et al. Johnson C. C. Affirmed. Myers, J. (1) The act of 1909, page 64, Sec. 27, gives the owners of a private bank the right to deduct the amount of their deposits from all bank assets (except real estate) including money on hand and on deposit in other banks, checks and cash items, bills receivable, and all bonds and shares of stock not exempt from taxation, and to pay tax only on the excess (see Acts 1907, page 264, Burns, 1908. Sec 10219.) (2) In case of an arbitrary selection by the State Board of Tax Commissioners of property to be taxed in violation of the constitution or of a statute, the board acts without jurisdiction and its action may be reviewed by the courts. (3) A law for the imposition of taxes which operates equally on all persons of the same class under like circumstances is not in conflict with the Federal constitution. (4) Since the statute in question merely applies to banking capital in the hands of private bankers, the established legal rule for valuation of banking capital owned by corporation, it is not unconstitutional.

Causes 95 Per Cent of Diseases

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them.

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who makes a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. "Its streets, its public restaurants, its theatres, are the show places where all that is new in style first makes its appearance.

"My work is to observe these styles and style tendencies.

"With my staff of style observers, I watch for all that is new, not only in public places but in the shops.

"Four times each year, with trunks full of costly models which I have bought, and with countless sketches of new styles, I come to the Wooltex factory.

"There I meet with the eight Wooltex master designers, and between us we choose, adapt and modify, the best Parisian ideas into distinctive American styles.

"These styles are made into beautiful garments bearing the mark of Wooltex."

Coats · Suits · Skirts · Dresses

For Well Dressed Women

The makers of Wooltex garments spend $50,000 each year on this style organization, simply that Wooltex in style, may be supreme.

They go further, and do more than any other maker of garments, to put into Wooltex coats, suits, skirts and dresses, extra quality materials and extra quality workmanship.

These good Wooltex garments are then shown by the best store in each town.

Thus, it is possible for you to secure the newest ideas from the style center of the world, refined and modified to meet your own ideas of good taste. Thus, it is possible for you to get garments which would be recognized as the latest styles whether you traveled to New York, to Paris or to St. Petersburg.

Yet these garments are not Paris garments, but distinctive American styles.

Wooltex garments are so good that their makers guarantee them for two full seasons of satisfactory wear.

In price they cost you no more than garments which lack Wooltex style, Wooltex quality and Wooltex individuality.

CHAPTER II.
OBJECT, MATRIMONY.

WINTER fogs in New York are never quite so intolerable as their counterparts in London, and while their frequency is a matter of complaint, their duration is seldom of any length. So by the morrow a strong wind from the west had winnowed the skies and cleared the sun. There were an exhilarating tingle of frost in the air and a visible rime on the windows. Hillard, having breakfasted lightly, was standing with his back to the grate in the cozy breakfast room. He was in boots and breeches and otherwise warmly clad and freshly shaven. He rocked on his heels and toes and ran his palm over his blue white chin in search of a possible slip of the razor.

Giovanni came in to announce that he had telephoned and that the signor's brown mare would be at the park entrance precisely at half after 8. Giovanni still marveled over this wonderful voice which came out of nowhere, but he was no longer afraid of it. The curiosity which is innate and childlike in all Latins soon overcame his dark superstitions. He was an ardent Catholic and believed that a few miracles should be left in the hands of God. The telephone had now become a kind of plaything, and Hillard often found him in front of it patiently waiting for the bell to ring.

The facility with which Giovanni had mastered English amazed his teacher and master. But now he needed no more lessons. The two when alone together spoke Giovanni's tongue. Hillard because he loved it and Giovanni because the cook spoke it badly and the English butler not at all.

"You have made up your mind to go, then, amico?" said Hillard.

"Yes, signor."

"Well, I shall miss you. To whom shall I talk the tongue I love so well?"

WARNING

Since its introduction into the United States, the sales of Parisian Sage have been phenomenal. This success has led to many imitations similar in name. Look out for them, they are not the genuine. See that the girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. You can always get the genuine at Johnson's Drug Store.

Parisian Sage is the quickest acting and most efficient hair tonic in the world.

It is made to conform to Dr. Sangerbond's (of Paris) proven theory that dandruff, falling hair, baldness and scalp itch are caused by germs. Parisian Sage kills these dandruff germs and removes all trace of dandruff in two weeks or money back; it stops falling hair and itching scalp and prevents baldness.

And remember that baldness is caused by dandruff germs, those little hard working, persistent devils that day and night do nothing but dig into the roots of the hair and destroy its vitality.

Parisian Sage is a daintily perfumed hair dressing; not sticky or greasy, and any woman who desires luxuriant and bewitching hair can get it in two weeks by using it. 50 cents a large bottle.

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

when Giovanni is gone?" with a lightness which he did not feel. Hillard had grown very fond of the old Roman in these seven years.

"Whenever the signor goes to Italia he shall find me. It needs but a word to bring me to him. The signor will pardon me, but he is like—like a son."

"Thanks, Giovanni. By the way, did you hear a woman singing in the street last night?"

"Yes, at first"—Giovanni hesitated. "Ah, but that could not be, Giovanni; that could not be."

"No; it could not be. But she sang well," the old servant ventured.

"So thought I. I even ran out into the street to find out who she was, but she vanished like the lady in the conjurer's trick. But it seemed to me that, while she sang in Italian, she herself was not wholly of that race."

"Buonissima!" Giovanni struck a noiseless brava with his hands. "Have I not always said that the signor's ears are as sharp as my own? No; the voice was very beautiful, but it was not truly Roman. It was more like they talk in Venice. And yet the sound of the voice decided me. The hills have always been calling to me, and I must answer."

"And the unforgetting carabinieri?"

"Oh, I must take my chance," with the air of a fatalist.

"What shall you do?"

"I have my two hands, signor. Besides, the signor has said it—I am rich." Giovanni permitted a smile to stir his thin lips. "Yes, I must go back. Your people have been good to me and have legally made me one of them, but my heart is never here. It is always so cold, and every one moves so quickly. You cannot lie down in the sun. Your police, bah! They beat you on the feet. You remember when I fell asleep on the steps of the cathedral? They thought I was drunk and would have arrested me!"

"Everybody must keep moving here. It is the penalty of being rich."

"And I am lonesome for my kind. I have nothing in common with these herds of Sicilians and Neapolitans who pour into the streets from the wharfs." Giovanni spoke scornfully.

"Yet in wartime the Neapolitans sheltered your pope."

"Vanity! They wished to make an impression on the rest of the world. It is dull here besides. There is no joy in the shops. I am lost in these great palaces. The festa is lacking. Nobody bargains; nobody sees the proprietor. You find your way to the streets alone. The butcher says that his meat is so and so, and you pay. The grocer marks his tins such and such, and you do not question, and the baker says that, and you pay, pay, pay! What? I need a collar; it is quindici—fifteen you say! I offer quattordici. I would give interest to the sale. But, no! The collar goes back into the box. I pay quindici or I go without. It is the same everywhere—very dull, dead, lifeless."

Hillard was moved to laughter. He very well understood the old man's lament. In Italy if there is one thing more than another that pleases the native it is to make believe to himself that he has got the better of a bargain. A shrewd purchase enlivens the whole day. It is talked about, laughed over and becomes the history of the day.

Hillard presently left the house and hailed a Fifth avenue omnibus. He looked with negative interest at the advertisements, at the people in the streets, at his fellow travelers. One of these was hidden behind his morning paper. Personal! Hillard squirmed a little. The world never holds very much romance in the sober morning. What a stupid piece of folly! The idea of his sending that personal inquiry to the paper! Tomorrow he would see it sandwiched in between samples of shopgirl romance, questionable intrigues and divers search warrants. Ye gods! "Will the blond who smiled at gentleman in blue serge, elevated train, Tuesday, meet same in park? Object, matrimony." Hillard edged. "Young man known as Adonis would adore stout elderly lady independently situated. Object, matrimony." Pish! "Girlie. Can't keep appointment tonight, Willie. Tush! "A French widow of eighteen, unincumbered," and so forth and so on. Rot, bally rot, and here he was on the way to join them! "Will the lady who sang from 'Mme. Angot' communicate with gentleman who leaned out of the window? J. H., Burgomaster Club." Positively asinine!

There was scarce one chance in a thousand of the mysterious singer's seeing the inquiry, not one in ten thousand of giving his club address! That would look very dignified in yonder agony column. He would cancel the thing.

He dropped from the omnibus at the park entrance, where he found his restive mare. He gave her a lump of sugar and climbed into the saddle. He directed the groom to return for the horse at 10 o'clock, then headed for the stable path. It was heavy, but the air was so keen and bracing that neither the man nor the horse worried about the going. Only one party attracted him, a riding master and a trio of brokers who were verging on embourgeoisment and were desperate and looked it. Hillard went on. The park was not lovely; the trees were barren, the grass yellow and sodden.

"She is so innocent, so youthful!"

He found himself humming the refrain over and over. She had sung it with abandon, tenderness, lightness. For one glimpse of her face! He took the rise and dip that followed. Yards ahead a solitary woman cantered easily along. Hillard had not seen her before. He spurred forward, faintly curious. There was nothing familiar to his eye in her charming figure. She rode well. As he drew nearer he saw that she wore a heavy gray veil. And this veil hid everything but the single flash of a pair of eyes the color of which defied him. Then he looked at her mount. Ha! There was only one rangy black with a white throat—from the Sandford stables, he was positive. But the Sandfords were at this moment in Cairo, so it signified nothing. There is always some one ready to exercise your horses. He looked again at the rider. The flash of the eyes was not repeated, so his interest vanished, and he urged the mare into a sharp run.

So he went back to his tentative romance. She had passed his window and disappeared into the fog, and there was a reasonable doubt of her ever returning from it. The singer in the fog—thus he would write it down in his book of memories and sensibly turn the page. At length he came back to the entrance and surrendered the mare. He was about to cross the square when he was halted.

Hillard wheeled and saw Merrihew. He, too, was in riding breeches.

"Why, Dan, glad to see you. Were you in the park?"

"Riverside. Beastly cold too. Come join me in a cup of good coffee."

The two entered the cafe.

"How are you behaving yourself these days?" asked Merrihew.

"My habits are always exemplary," answered Hillard. "But yours?"

Merrihew gulped his coffee.

"Kitty Killigrew leaves in two weeks for Europe."

"And who the deuce is Kitty Killigrew?" demanded Hillard.

"What?" reproachfully. "You haven't heard of Kitty Killigrew in 'The Modern Maid'? Where have you been? Pippin! Prettiest soubrette that's hit the town in a dog's age."

"I say, Dan, don't you ever tire of that sort? I can't recall when there wasn't a Kitty Killigrew. What's the attraction?" Hillard waved aside the big black cigar. "What's the attraction?"

"The truth is, Jack, I'm a jackass half the time. I can't get away from the glamour of the footlights. I'm no Johnny. You know that. No hanging around stage entrances and buying wine and diamonds. I might be reckless enough to buy a bunch of roses when I'm not broke. But I like 'em—the bright ones. They keep a fellow amused. Most of 'em speak good English and come from better families than you would suppose. Just good fellowship, you know. Maybe a rabbit and a bottle of beer after the performance or a little quarter limit at the apartment, singing and good stories. What you've in mind is the chorus lady. Not for mine!"

Hillard laughed, recalling his conversation with the policeman.

"Go on," he said. "Get it all out of your system now that you're started."

"And then it tickles a fellow's vanity to be seen with them at the restaurants. That's the way it begins, you know. I'll be perfectly frank with you. If it wasn't for what the other fellows say most of the chorus ladies would go hungry. And the girls that you and I know think I'm a devil of a fellow—wicked, but interesting, and all that."

Hillard's laughter broke forth again, and he leaned back. Merrihew would always be twenty-six; he would always be youthful.

"And this Kitty Killigrew? I believe I've seen posters of her in the windows now that you speak of it."

"Well, Jack, I've got it bad this trip. I offered to marry her last night and was refused."

"It seems to me that your Kitty is not half bad. What would you have done had she accepted you?"

"Married her within twenty-four hours."

"Come, Dan; be sensible. You are not such an ass as all that."

"Yes, I am," moodily. "I told you that I was a jackass half the time. This is the half."

"But she won't have you?"

"Not for love or money."

"Are you sure about the money?" asked Hillard shrewdly.

"Seven hundred or seven thousand. It wouldn't matter to Kitty if she made up her mind to marry a fellow. What's the matter with me anyhow? I'm not so badly set up. I can whip any man in the club at my weight. I can tell a story well, and I'm not afraid of anything."

"Not even of the future!" added Hillard.

"Do you really think it's my money?" pathetically.

"Well, seven thousand doesn't go far, and that's all you have. If it were seventy, now, I'm sure Kitty wouldn't reconsider. What's she like?" asked Hillard, with more sympathy than curiosity.

Merrihew drew out his watch and opened the case. It was a pretty face. More than that, it was a refined prettiness. The eyes were merry; the brow was intelligent; the nose and chin were good. Altogether it was the face of a merry, kindly little soul, one such as would be most likely to trap the wandering fancy of a young man like Merrihew.

"And she won't have you?" Hillard repeated, this time with more curiosity than sympathy.

ROTTENNESS IN CUSTOM HOUSE

General Tear-Up May Expose the Graft Game.

BEEN GOING ON FOR YEARS

Sensation Caused in New York by the Exposure of Some of the Methods of Custom House Officials in Matter of Gauging Merchants and Importers—No Telling How High Up It May Go.

New York, Oct. 28.—Having been held up for years by the grafting of custom house inspectors and weighers, importers and merchants say that the whole customs service in this city is rotten from the bottom up. How far up the rottenness extends few of them could guess, because the beautifully complete system of robbing the government through false weights and returns and collecting bribes for prompt service forced importers to deal with little crooks.

The little crooks ran around on the edge of a wheel of graft, taking the name of a fruit for a password and doing business carelessly over straight whisky in the back rooms of water-side bars. Who lay quietly in the center of the wheel and along the spokes, taking a fat share of the blackmail the little crooks collected, is a matter which interests men who have been forced for years, they say, to be dishonest themselves in order to get their shipments handled by the petty officials of the custom house. The small importers and the custom house brokers say that they are eager to know who benefits most by the practice in the customs service of corrupting importers and seducing them to break the law.

The end of the Musica case in the original branch of the United States circuit court, when Philip Musica, an importer who had pleaded guilty of participation in cheese-weighing frauds, was remanded for sentence by Judge Holt, and the indignant comment from Judge Holt that Collector Loeb's action in retaining self-confessed thieves in the customs service was discreditable to the government and an injustice to honest men, made some importers believe that the whole graft system could be ended by a fair course of dealing in Collector Loeb's office. The germ of the whole trouble, they said, lay in the fact that the customs officials have forced merchants to be shifty who would rather be straightforward. Much more would be accomplished, they considered, if the service was gone over with a rake than by putting the onus of the business on importers who had to pay.

Judge Holt, speaking from the bench, did not sugar-coat the situation in the least. Young Musica's guilt had been settled by the testimony of three men—George Brehm, George Berg and William Hutchinson, assistant weighers on the docks—all of whom have a guarantee of immunity from prosecution, and were retained in their jobs.

"In my opinion," said the judge, "it not only discredits the government, but is unjust to the honest members of the public service in the same class to compel them to continue to act in the company of men who have confessed that they have committed crimes in the discharge of public duty."

William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port, was the man who granted immunity to the three thieves. It was understood that Judge Holt's rebuke applied to Loeb. Loeb himself took it that way. He issued a statement defending his course on the score that it was necessary to keep the three on his payroll, as that was the only way the whole system of graft could be uprooted.

WEALTHY FARMER IS SLAIN BY SON

In a Quarrel John Weaver Strikes Fatal Blow.

HE REGRETS HIS RASH ACT

Because He Interfered While Father Was Beating the Team, Young Man and Parent Became Involved in a Fight Which Has Deplorable Ending—Son Threatens to Commit Suicide.

Bloomfield, Ind., Oct. 28.—A wealthy farmer near Marco, Samuel Weaver, is dead from the effects of a blow given by his son John. The latter says that while he and his father were at work together on the farm the father became angry with the team they were driving and began beating them. The son interfered, whereupon the father struck at him with a piece of pump pipe. Snatching the weapon out of his father's hands, the son gave him a terrific blow on the back of the head, crushing the skull. The father did not regain consciousness. Young Weaver is grief-stricken over his rash act, and threatens to take his own life. He is about twenty-three years old and unmarried.

FIERCE RUNNING FIGHT

Indianapolis Officers Capture Two Daylight Burglars.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—Two burglars were wounded in a running revolver battle with bicycle policemen near Victoria street. The policemen had a narrow escape from death from bullets fired by the burglars. Both the burglars were taken to the City hospital.

The burglars were discovered about noon in the home of W. A. Welch, 507 Harris street. Mrs. Welch had gone to a neighbor's house. On looking out a window she saw two men going through a side window of her house into a bedroom.

She rushed to a telephone and summoned the police. As they approached the burglars got out of the house and started to run. They fled down an alley, the policemen in close pursuit. The burglars opened fire on the policemen and the officers replied until both sides had emptied and re-loaded their revolvers. Both burglars were captured after being wounded.

Dog Wears Police Star.
Oakland City, Ind., Oct. 28.—When the town marshal attempted to arrest a stranger for a minor offense, the fellow turned and ran. Intent upon watching the race between the marshal and his intended victim, a crowd of 250 people and General Grant Smith, a large shepherd dog, joined in the chase. The stranger outran the officer and citizens, but General Grant Smith stayed close at his heels, barking with delight. When the man took refuge in an isolated building the dog stayed with him, barking all the while. By the dog's yelping the officer was directed to the spot, and he captured his man. A large tin star has been made and fastened to the dog's collar as a medal of honor for police service.

Suicide of Farmer.
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—Henry Winherst, a farmer living near New Bethel, southeast of the city, killed himself with a shotgun. He was sixty-five years old, and he leaves a widow and twelve children, several of whom are married. It is thought that Winherst was demented. He went to an orchard near the farmhouse with a shotgun and planned his death. About half his skull was blown away.

Hoosiers in Land Drawing.
Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 28.—Indians were lucky in the Standing Rock and Cheyenne River Indian reservations' land drawing. Forty-four Hoosiers were lucky in the drawing. Conrad P. Sipe of Saratoga, Ind., and Albert Ott of Marshallfield, Ind., were among the first fifteen getting 160 acres apiece. Their claims are worth from $8,000 to $10,000. Claim No. 1 was drawn by W. J. Engel of Butte, Neb. His farm is worth $15,000. Ten thousand farms are to be drawn by allotment.

Strange Case of Poisoning.
Brazil, Ind., Oct. 28.—Physicians of this county are puzzled over the death of Mrs. Joseph Kauble, age forty-two, which occurred at her home at Cloverdale, west of here. The symptoms were those of belladonna poisoning, and it is believed that the woman's death was caused by absorbing quantities of the poison through wearing belladonna plasters. Mrs. Kauble suffered from a weak back, and much of the time wore a belladonna plaster.

Struck Another Oil Well.
Oakland City, Oct. 28.—Twitcheil & McFadden, oil operators, have completed a well in the local field, in which fifty-four feet of oil sand was drilled and the drilling stopped while the tools were still in the sand. Nearly forty feet of sand was oil bearing. This is the record for the field. No estimate of the well's production can be made. It is producing some gas.

KILLED WIFE AND SELF

Boston Man Follows Wife From Home and Uses Revolver.

Boston, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Irving W. Fletcher, aged eighteen, wife of an electric car conductor, was shot and instantly killed by her husband. The man then turned the weapon upon himself and sent a bullet into his brain. The double tragedy took place at the head of the first flight of stairs in the big apartment house, "The Fells," a short distance from Symphony hall. Tuesday Mrs. Fletcher called at the suite of Miss Diana Feinbrun and asked for protection. She said her husband had been beating and abusing her shamefully. At 11 o'clock Fletcher called at Miss Feinbrun's apartment and demanded to be admitted. The door was locked in his face by Miss Feinbrun. He then threw his weight against the door and broke it in. Miss Feinbrun says that Fletcher punched and kicked her and then beat his wife. Finally he was pacified and influenced to leave the apartment. Miss Feinbrun went to work yesterday, leaving Mrs. Fletcher and her baby. Fletcher reached the house later and in some way he got his wife out into the hall and began firing.

SIX WERE ALL THAT WERE SAVED

Reports Confirm Loss of Life on the Hestia.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 28.—While it may be possible that in addition to the six men rescued from the wrecked steamship Hestia by the Grand Manan life savers, some of the others of the crew of that ill-fated vessel may still be alive, but scarcely any one here is of that opinion. Two of the Hestia's boats, one containing the bodies of Chief Engineer Munn and Seaman Theo. Reid, drifted ashore on a beach a short distance from Yarmouth, N. S., yesterday, and another, in which was the body of an unidentified sailor, was picked up floating at Salmon river, not far from Digby. All three bodies were taken to Yarmouth, where an inquest will be held. The finding of these lifeboats practically dispels the hopes that some of the many men who put off from the Hestia soon after she hit the rocks of Old Proprietor's ledge may have been picked up by a passing vessel. Because of the poor mode of communication between here and Grand Manan Island, it has been impossible to ascertain from any of the six survivors of the steamer how many lifeboats were lowered, but it is believed here that only two left the craft and that they are the ones cast upon the Nova Scotia shore. It is learned that the six men saved from the vessel spent more than twenty-four hours lashed in the rigging. When the gale abated, they slid down to the deck and made their way to the bridge of the ship, where they managed to keep dry until the lifeboats came out from Seal Cove.

The Hestia can not be saved. Today she was almost completely under water and the many fishing craft that put out to her from Grand Manan, Eastport and this city report that her decks were awash and that her cargo was floating about the bay, indicating that she was going to pieces.

Tacoma, Washington

Dear Sirs:

I took my Blue Suit down to a Tacoma Tailor to get it pressed and when I went to get it he said. "May I ask who made this suit." I informed him that I did not know who made it but that I bought it back east. He then said, "It wasn't ready-made was it?" I replied that it certainly was and he again said "It's a mighty nifty suit for a ready-made." Now believe me O.P.C.H. I agree with him.

Your Friend.
